

Pontiac Amblewagon: Funeral Car conversion designed for transportation of caskets, as well as removals, etc.

Because of the continuously increasing demand for its products and anticipating that this demand will also grow in the year ahead, the company will be passing on the economies of mass production to its customers in the form of lower prices and/or in the form of additional components. Many new features, including wider interiors, cots especially designed to give added headroom, removable Landau Inserts, deluxe casket tables, improved interior lighting and ventilation, make the Amblewagon conversions adaptable to even wider use by the funeral home industry. Also, the company has taken note of the new Interstate Commerce Commission requirements for commercial vehicles such as hazard warning switches and fire extinguishers and has included these features in its conversions.

As has been true since the Amblewagon was first introduced to the industry over seven years ago, all Amblewagons will continue to be sold by local authorized car dealers throughout the country. This method of distribution of professional vehicles has met with enthusiastic approval from all segments of the trade.

The photos show various conversions on different 1962 station wagons and "Compacts" and illustrate the wide variety of professional cars now available from Automotive Conversion Corporation.
